THE WOOD IN COUNTY WINDS WOOM TOWN

Poor Immigrants, Lured to This Country by a Syndicate, Are Kept Prisoners in Disorderly Houses in Philadelphia.

HERE, TOO, AND IN CHICAGO.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.-In a raid which the police made on twenty disorderly houses in this city, and in which 400 women and girls were arrested, evidence was found to confirm the assertion made by the German Ambassador at Washington that there is an organized traffic in young girls.

The German Consul and the Director of Public Safety say they have absolute evidence of the existence of a syndicate, with headquarters in Halle, Germany, branches in nearly every country of Europe and representatives in Philadelphia, New York, Chicago and other cities. Hundreds of girls have been decoyed to this country and kept in restraint so complete that their rooms in the houses to which they have been sent have been their prisons.

About a month ago Detectives Walker and Sells were put to work getting evidences against houses in the disorderly district. Not long after they had begun the German Consul informed the police of the existence of the syndicate, and named the man in Halle who is at its head. The efforts of the detectives were directed then toward following up this clue, and the result was that last night a swift sweep was made of the Magistrate Kochersperger had a num ber of the prisoners brought before him as soon as they arrived at 'the City Hall, but the raid soon assumed such proportions that the hearing was post-poned till to-day. It was apparent, too, that the girls were afraid to tell the truth when questioned, and their plight was pitiable.

Director of Public Safety English, who worked with the detectives in the investigation, tool the Magistrate that they must be made to understand that they could talk with safety, and the result was that there was presently coaxed from them such tales of revoiting slavery as shocked those who listened, and corroborated the statements made by the Consul.

The victims of the system were of many nationalities. One girl said she had been lured from South Africa. A great many were of the Hebrew faith, so many that at first Rabbi Joseph Krauskopf, who assisted in the investigation, thought that the traffic had been almost entirely among his people in European countries.

Several men were arrested in the raid. One of them was Sam Dietz, who was caught in a house at No. 341 North Fourth street. Several girls teatified that they had been taken to the house by him. The Magistrate held him in $1,500 bail.
